So far as the international conference is concerned it is realized that opposition to the negotiation of the Anglo-Japanese treaty is involved. This is another case where publicity has had its effect, not in this country but in England itself. The new idea in diplomacy is commending itself everywhere.

Formerly such a treaty would have been negotiated, signed and published. In this instance the Dominion Premiers were called in, and the discussion that developed made it unwise to go ahead with an agreement which might have had a serious deterrent effect on the stabilization of the world.

Charlottesville. Va., July 22.—Miss Alice McEiroy, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. McEiroy of New York, and an expert horsewoman, died dast night at University Hospital from injuries received in a riding accident.

The young woman was in the act of showing her grandmother, Mrs. S. R. McEiroy, who had just arrived from California, how proficient her favorite mount recently shipped from the McEiroy country place at Belle Mead. N. J., was in taking the hurdles. In taking a jump of medium height the animal tipped the top bar sufficiently to toss the rider over his head.

Though born in Chicago eighteen years ago, Miss McEiroy had passed most of her life in Whitestone, L. I. Two years ago her father bought the estate Westcairns on Ivy road, west of the University of Virginia. canvas cot of army model in an $x5
